ANGUISH, HOPE FELT AS OLD YEAR ENDS

First Weather Of 1961 To Be Rather Nasty

Rain, Sleet, Snow Expected Tonight; Temperature To Drop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Old Father Time, 1960 vintage, will go out slipping and sliding, according to the weatherman.

While the forecast called for "fair" today, the waning hours of the old year will be generally nasty.

The forecast calls for a mixture of rain, sleet and snow tonight beginning in the southwestern part of Ohio and spreading over the rest of the state on Sunday.

The temperature will be up today and down Sunday. There is a possibility that Sunday's snow could develop into heavy amounts for some portions of the state.

Here are the forecasts for specific areas within and near Ohio:

NORTHWEST & NORTHEAST OHIO—Increasing cloudiness today and a little warmer, high 33-38. Cloudy and turning a little colder tonight. A few snow flurries early tonight and snow beginning later tonight. Low 21-26. Snow changing to snow flurries and colder Sunday.

CENTRAL OHIO — Mostly fair and a little warmer today, high 38. Cloudy tonight with a mixture of rain, sleet and snow late tonight changing to snow Sunday and possibly becoming heavy, colder on Sunday. Low tonight 28, high Sunday 32.

SOUTH CENTRAL OHIO — Increasing cloudiness today and a little warmer, cloudy tonight with a mixture of rain, sleet and snow changing to snow by Sunday. Snow possibly becoming heavy by Sunday and turning colder. High today 35-40, low tonight 28-30. High Sunday 32-34.

WEST VIRGINIA — Sunny this morning, increasing cloudiness, high 36-44 this afternoon. Cloudy with rain or snow likely late tonight and Sunday. Low tonight 26-34.

WEST VIRGINIA PANHANDLE — Increasing cloudiness today, followed by snow or sleet, changing to snow, possibly becoming heavy late tonight and Sunday. Little change in temperatures today and tonight. Colder on Sunday. High today 35-40, low tonight 22-28.

LAKE ERIE — Southwesterly winds 18-26 knots, shifting to north to northeast 20-28 knots late this afternoon or evening, and continuing northeasterly tonight. Partly cloudy today, cloudy with chance of snow developing tonight.

Negro Selected As Housing Chief

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy today names a Negro—first to be picked for a top job in the new administration—as chief of the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Kennedy scheduled a late morning news conference for formal announcement of appointment of Robert C. Weaver, 51, now vice chairman of New York City's Housing and Redevelopment Board. He has a Harvard doctor of philosophy degree.

He also has served for the past year as national chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Selection of Weaver became known Friday night after the president-elect had chosen W. Averell Harriman, former envoy to the Soviet Union and former governor of New York, to serve as his roving ambassador on important special missions abroad.

Kennedy said the overseas assignments he has in mind for Harriman will be carried out by a man "who has the full confidence of the president and an intimate knowledge of all aspects of United States policy."

It will cost Weaver $1,500 in salary reduction to take over direction of federal housing program. His New York position pays $22,500 annually compared with $21,000 in the new position.

Norman P. Mason is administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency in the outgoing Eisenhower administration. The agency has policy supervision over the operations of the Federal Housing Administration, the Public Housing Administration, and the Federal National Mortgage Association.

Weaver was trained as an economist at Harvard. He was a New Deal brain trust in the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration in 1935, serving first as an aide to Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes. Later he was a special assistant in such agencies as the Housing Division of the Works Progress Administration, the National Defense Advisory Commission, the War Production Board and the War Manpower Commission.

Kennedy reportedly is about ready to pick still another Harvard man — McGeorge Bundy, dean of the faculty of arts and sciences — to be his special assistant in charge of national security matters.

Kennedy sprinkled the New Year holiday weekend with a mixture of business engagements and plans for more relaxation on the golf course and at a football game.

On Monday the president-elect will fly to Miami for the Missouri-Navy Orange Bowl game. Kennedy, a World War II Navy veteran, will be rooting for the midshipmen.

Kennedy was host overnight to Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the late president. Roosevelt told reporters he had not been offered a job in the new administration.

It was learned, meanwhile, that Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia is under consideration — a m o n g others — for the post of secretary of the Army.

Discoverer Satellite Burns Up in Atmosphere

HASCOM FIELD, Mass. (AP) — The National Space Surveillance Control Center says the Air Force Satellite Discoverer 17 burned up in the atmosphere Wednesday.

The center said Friday the satellite apparently was consumed between its 720th and 725th revolutions. That left 34 man-made objects in orbit around the earth, including one Soviet and 16 U.S. satellites.

Discoverer 17 was launched Nov. 12 from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Laos Aide Says Vietnam Reds Invade Nation

Soviet News Agency Denies Charge, but Lays Down Threat

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Premier Bouin Oum's pro-Western government said today northeast Laos had been invaded by seven Red North Vietnamese battalions supported by artillery and that the town of Nonet was under attack.

(The Soviet news agency Tass, in a dispatch from Hanoi, quoted the North Viet Nam Foreign Ministry as terming the invasion report "absolutely false" and an attempt to camouflage "the intervention of American imperialists" in Laos.)

(Tass quoted paratroop Capt. Kong Le, leftist leader in Laos, as threatening to call "volunteer units from Afro-Asian countries" if "intervention" by the United States, South Viet Nam and Thailand does not cease.)

Prince Boun's office said his Southeast Asian kingdom, which the United States supports with military and financial aid, "reserves the right to appeal to friendly countries" if the invasion is not halted.

Word of the attack came in intelligence reports from the commander of the mountainous segment.

(In Singapore, a British diplomatic source said information received there did not indicate any invasion of Laos had taken place. "Our information indicates these reports should be discounted," the source said.)

Western military observers in Vientiane expressed surprise at the urgency of a communique issued by the premier's office and said it indicated the situation was serious.

Reinforcements were being rushed to the invaded area, the communique said.

The United States has poured $300 million in military aid into Laos in five years. The Soviet Union is dropping military supplies to leftist forces led by paratroop Capt. Kong Le, Premier Boun's arch foe who was driven from Vientiane Dec. 15.

Leftist Pathet Lao troops, another faction in the six-year-old Laotian war, have been supplied by Red North Viet Nam.

Western military experts in Vientiane said there have been unconfirmed reports for two or three weeks that four and possibly five Vietminh battalions were operating along the mountainous northeast Laotian border.

But reports from this area — Xiangkhouang Province — have not always been entirely correct due to poor communications, military experts said.

Ohio Hog Price Dips

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Market hog prices averaged $18.25 per 100 pounds this week, down about 25 cents from what trend could be established the previous week.

'61 COUNTY OFFICIALS — County officials were sworn into office yesterday by Judge William Ammer before assuming the duties for four-year terms. Six Officials Receive Oaths for New Term

Six county officials were sworn into office yesterday at 2 p. m. by Judge William Ammer in the Common Pleas Courtroom.

All who received the oath yesterday will go into office officially Monday for a four-year term. They include Walton W. Spangler, sheriff; Henry T. McCrady, engineer; James Mowery, clerk of courts; Clyde Michel and Lloyd Melvin, commissioners.

All of the above were re-elected in November with the exception of Lloyd Melvin who will be serving his first term in office.

Also to receive oaths of office are Judge Guy Cline, probate court; Ray Carroll, coroner; Robert Huffer, prosecuting attorney; and Robert Wood, treasurer. Wood, also serving his first term, will go into office the first Monday in September. Judge Cline's new term begins February 9, for six years.

Chillicothe To Get Permanent OU Unit

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Trustees of Ohio University and of the Chillicothe Development Fund Friday exercised an option for purchase of land to be used for a permanent college branch facility here.

The trustees made an $18,000 initial payment on a $90,000 contract to buy 43.34 acres from Mrs. Anna M. Grady. The land is on Carlisle Hill, adjoining Mt. Logan Sanatorium property.

Chillicothe has had a nighttime branch of Ohio University for 15 years and during this year has also been operating daytime classes in quarters rented from the First Presbyterian Church.

Trustees said they hoped this would be the first step toward establishment of a full-scale, four-year college program here.

No Herald On Monday

There will be no edition of The Circleville Herald Monday, so that employees of The Herald may spend the holiday with their family and friends. Regular features and comics which would appear on that day will be carried at another time.

News of World in Brief

NEW YORK (AP) — A study checking on mental health of city folk finds only 18.5 per cent of them completely well.

Psychiatrists classified 36.3 per cent as having mild symptoms, 21.8 per cent moderate symptoms and 23.4 per cent impaired—having symptoms interfering with life functions.

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Three inmates of the Defiance County Jail pried off a metal shield and glass block from a window fashioned a rope from bed clothes and slid down 14 feet to the ground to escape today.

CHICAGO (AP) — Delegates from throughout the country held the first of three weekend sessions in a neighborhood meeting hall Friday night in what has been branded by the FBI as a Communist-directed youth movement.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's motor transportation commissioner, speaking about the possibility of waiving the cost of the state's added-gross weight truck tag for Ohio truckers, comments, "We can't give up something unless we get something equitable in return."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Health lists a $100,000 air pollution laboratory and required immunization of school children against five serious communicable diseases among its major accomplishments in 1960.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Belgians today uneasily awaited the new year, feeling it would bring new violence to the nation torn by strikes and political squabbling.

SOMERVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Some 700 Negro sharecroppers in this rural area relaxed today behind a shield of temporary federal court orders barring their eviction.

The Justice Department won the preliminary victory in its historic first test of a section of the 1957 Civil Rights Act which bars intimidation or coercion of potential voters.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — One hundred and six polio cases were reported to the State Health Department from Ohio counties in 1959. Included were six deaths attributed to the disease. The 1960 total is less than half that of 1959, although department officials say a few late reports still may be received.

Hammarhjold will talk with Congo President Joseph Kasavubu in an effort to avoid possible civil war between followers of Kasavubu and his leading rival, Patrice Lumumba, former Congolese premier now imprisoned by Kasavubu's army.

Then Hammarhjold will journey to South Africa to discuss steps aimed at easing the tension caused by South Africa's racial segregation policies.

Hammarhjold also will visit Gamal Abdel Nasser, president of the United Arab Republic, and Prime Minister Nehru of India.

On the home front, 1961 promised to be an eventful year for Americans.

On Jan. 20, a new president, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, will assume the heavy cares of the most important public office in the free Western world.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower on that day will retire from eight years of the same heavy cares, a period of constant world turmoil.

Government economists closed their books on the old year and expressed a cautious optimism about the new.

They said they expected the American economy to pick up no later than spring although unemployment was likely to continue heavy for the next few months.

Another Year Due To Begin At Midnight

Pope Seeks Glimmer Of Serenity; UN Aide Searches for Peace

NEW YORK (AP)—Late tonight the hands of the clock will merge precisely. Midnight!

Time, as measured by man, will die for a flashing instant. And instantly it will be reborn.

The year 1960 ends; 1961 begins. But time, in this brief void, cannot be measured by man as he would measure a meadow — in rods. Nor as he would measure an ocean — in miles.

Time, in this instant, is a heartbeat and can be found in the hearts of men—some heavy with anguish, some light with hope.

Pope John XXIII, at his special New Year's audience for diplomats, spoke of the anxiety in his heart.

But he also said he was searching on the dawn of this new year "to find in the uncertainty of an agitated world, some glimmer promising serenity."

As the 79-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church spoke, man fought man on the continents of Europe, Asia and Africa.

In Asia, it was the blood bath in Laos.

In Europe it was rioting in Belgium.

In Africa, it was war between opposing factions in the Congo, and racial tension further to the south.

So, on the first day of the new year, the head of the world's peace organization, United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, will be flying to some of these trouble spots, seeking peace.

Hammarhjold will talk with Congo President Joseph Kasavubu in an effort to avoid possible civil war between followers of Kasavubu and his leading rival, Patrice Lumumba, former Congolese premier now imprisoned by Kasavubu's army.

Then Hammarhjold will journey to South Africa to discuss steps aimed at easing the tension caused by South Africa's racial segregation policies.

Local Leaders Predict Moderate Change during 1961

What does 1961 hold in store for Circleville and Pickaway County? That question was asked of civic and business leaders in the community. Today their answers are published as the new year approaches.

In general those who set down their thoughts on the next 12 months are optimistic. There is no all-out prediction that it will be the "best year ever," but there is no anticipation of a retarded economy either.

The outlook, according to the consensus, is for a good year, but there is none of the "boom" talk that marked the predictions of a year ago.

One of the most significant factors in the predictions is the fact that the community has diversified activities.

THE LOCAL economy is not tied to any one dominant business. Should one portion slump, others probably wouldn't.

There is some feeling that the latter part of 1961 will bring an upturn in business activity and that the year will wind up better than 1960.

Many call for more active interest in schools and politics, as well as community-wide projects. They look back on 1960 as a year of accomplishment, but see many avenues for improvement in the coming months.

Here are the forecasts for 1961:

GEORGE HARTMAN
Superintendent
Circleville City Schools

The schools will face tougher going in 1961. Better days are ahead as the Board of Education will be constructing 16 new classrooms which will be ready for use in 1962.

This construction program will keep Circleville city schools from facing a serious curtailment program for several years.

A lot of curriculum improvement and refinement is planned for 1961. A textbook committee is working on a new English adoption. A new course of study is in the process of preparation for grade six.

Plans are under way for changes and improvement in the foreign language program. High Street Elementary School will be experimenting as a pilot school with educational airborne TV.

The school's financial structure will not permit many desired improvements. However Circleville does have and will maintain a very efficient school system throughout 1961.

ROBERT CALL
President, Rotary Club

It would be rather presumptuous of me to attempt to predict 1961. The following editorial from "The Farm Journal" will perhaps cover the situation.

"Soon we'll be celebrating New Year's Eve. Since none of us can know what 1961 has in store, we've tried to make a list of a few things we can be sure of.

"Spring will come; so will summer, fall and winter.

"Farmers will get most discounted and restless along about March 1. They'll feel better when they get to stirring around in the field and planting something.

"The bugs and bacteria will appear strictly on schedule and work away at their usual professions.

"Prices and our family moods all fluctuate, and fortunately this will be up as well as down.

"There will be turbulence in such places as the Congo and Congress, and too little time for fishing.

"Consumers will complain. Taxpayers, too.

"A great many fat people will go on diets, off, too.

"Parents will worry about their children: the kids will wish mom and pop would relax.

"More women will wear Bermuda shorts, to the discomfort of their old-fashioned husbands.

"1962 will follow 1961 and we'll get another chance.

"Happy New Year."

GEORGE D. MCDOWELL
School Superintendent
Pickaway County

I believe that the economy of Circleville and Pickaway County will continue for the first half of 1961 about as it is now. Probably there is bound to be at least a brief period of business uncertainty while the New Administration policies are unknown.

Probably the latter part of 1961 will be a generally profitable year for business and farmer interests in the county, if brakes are applied to any wide-eyed "liberal" legislative proposals that would breed inflation, increased prices.

Despite increasing unemployment and all the talk about a recession, indications are that 1961 will become a favorable business year for the county.

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The overall stability in farmer's prices, costs and income will likely remain the same for 1961. The volume of farm marketings will be up slightly. In general, due to our present price supports, prices received by farmers will be about the same. The net income to farmers in 1961 will about be the same as it was in 1959 or 1960.

The new president will most certainly make some change in farm policy next year. These changes aren't likely to come in a hurry, because it will be hard to get any major shifts before planting season.

Farmers should plant as much as they can of their highest profit crop, because any control program will likely be based on past crop history. The farmer with the big plantings may have a better

Worship Every Week ---

Communion To Be Celebrated At Trinity Lutheran Church

Holy Communion will be celebrated at both the 8:30 and 10:45 a. m. services in Trinity Lutheran Church this New Year's Day.

Pastor Carl G. Zehner will present the sermon, "The Open Door of Another Year."

The Youth Choir will present special music at the early service. Music will be led at the late service by the Adult Choir. Both choirs are under the direction of Miss Janet Westrick.

Mrs. Karl Herrmann will preside at the organ at both services. Sunday School for all ages will be held at 9:30 a. m.

The Nursery will be open during the late service in the Parish House.

DIAL A DEVOTION — Call GR 4-2123 for a one minute devotion.

The youth of Trinity Lutheran Church will conduct the New Year's Eve Service at 8 p. m. tonight.

Mr. David Hammel, pre-seminary student at Capital University, will deliver the sermon entitled "The Question."

Presbyterian

New Year day will be observed at the Presbyterian Church by celebrating the sacrament of our Lord's supper during the 10:30 a. m. hour of worship tomorrow morning.

Scripture will be read from the 12th chapter of the Old Testament Book of Exodus which records the Passover feast of the children of Israel as they escaped from Egypt under the leadership of Moses; also from the 26th chapter of the New Testament Gospel of St. Matthew which records the incident 1200 years later, in an upper room in Jerusalem when Jesus met with His twelve disciples to celebrate the Passover feast and to establish the sacrament of His Last Supper to be celebrated by all Christians for all time.

From these Scripture readings the Rev. Donald Mitchell will develop the theme of the communion meditation: "The Hand of God in the Year 1961."

Hymns, used will include the New Year hymn, "Great God, We Sing" and "Joy To The World." The congregation will repeat together the Apostles Creed. After prayer, the presenting of tithes and offerings, and the meditation, the Holy Sacrament will be celebrated "in remembrance of the Christ whose boundless love will one day re-unite all His Church, and peoples into His kingdom on earth, as it is in heaven."

At the organ Mrs. Theodore L. Huston will play: "A Prayer of St. Chrysostom" by Weaver, "Nocturne" by Chopin and "Chorale Alleluia" from Cantata 142 by Bach.

Preceding the Sunday School classes will meet at 9:30 a. m. for an hour of Bible study.

Gospel Center

Holy Communion will be celebrated following the message at the 10:30 a. m. Worship Service at the Gospel Center.

The Scripture text Luke 14:15-27 "Blessed is he that shall eat bread in the kingdom of God. Whosoever doth not bear his own cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple."

The sermon topic will be "The Oath of Allegiance."

Youth Fellowship will meet at 6:30 p. m. with Stanley McRoberts in charge.

A New Year's Service will be held at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow. The Rev. L. S. Metzler will deliver the sermon "A Year as a Part of Our Probationary Life." Scripture text Psalms 90:9 "we spend our years as a tale that is told."

Prayer and Praise meeting will commence at 7:30 p. m. Thursday. Sunday School will open at 9:30 a. m. in charge of Robert Tacy.

Calvary E.U.B.

Holy Communion will be observed during the morning Worship Service at 9 a. m. at the Calvary E.U.B. Church. The pastor, the Rev. G. H. Niswender, will give the communion meditation.

Congregation will sing the following hymns: "Come, Thou Fount", "A Parting Hymn We Sing", "Bread of Heaven, on Thee We Feed".

Wayne Reno, Circleville Bible College, will be guest organist. The Scripture lesson will be read from Luke 22:7-20.

The children will meet at 9 a. m. for Sunday School. The adults and young people will go to their classes at 10 a. m.

Nursery care is provided during both of these services.

The Youth Fellowship will meet at 6 p. m. in the annex for the Y-Hour with Robert Pritchard and Ronald Layton of the Christian Witness Commission in charge.

First E.U.B.

Holy Communion will be celebrated in the 9:30 a. m. service of worship tomorrow morning in the First Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. O. F. Gibbs, pastor of the church. He will be assisted by Sunday School superintendent, Edwin Richardson.

The Fidelis Chorus, directed by Miss Lucille Kirkwood, will sing, "He's calling You" (Hine).

Mrs. Verneal Thomas, organist, announces the following numbers: prelude, "Sabbath Morn" (Kohler); offertory, "Spirit of God" (Atkinson); and postlude, "To the Glory of God" (Heyser).

Dr. J. R. MacMurray, son-in-law of the pastor will play a trumpet solo, "How Great Thou Art".

Sunday school in the children's department will convene in the service center at 9:30 a. m. with Mrs. Robert Dumm and Mrs. Donald Johnson in charge.

At the conclusion of the service of worship, Sunday school class session will be conducted for the youth and adult department of the church. The topic for discussion will be, "That You May Believe". Nursery care is provided in the service center during both the worship service and Sunday School.

The Youth Fellowship will meet in the service center at 6:30 p. m. Mrs. David Blue and Joan Gibbs will be in charge.

Sunday School in all departments, will begin at 9:30 a. m. The adults will assemble in the main auditorium under the supervision of Superintendent William Smith. The children will meet in the junior and beginner department auditoriums where Mrs. Marvene Rinehart and Mrs. Duane McCain are the superintendents.

During the adult worship hour, junior worship will be conducted in the children's auditorium.

The 6:30 p. m. youth service will be held in the youth chapel where Elmer Winner will be in charge.

Men and women are asked to gather in the prayer rooms at 7 p. m. as a preliminary to the 7:30 p. m. Evangelistic hour. Pastor R. G. Humble will deliver the evening message.

Church of Christ

"At the Opening Gates of the New Year" will be the sermon topic to be delivered by Delbert McKenzie at the Church of Christ.

Worship Service will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow.

"We are at the gate of a new year. New experiences await us, the future is uncertain. But God is in the future. This is the time of year when we need to take stock, what progress has been made in the past year? This is the time of year when we need to 'resolve' to do more, 'resolve' to be better and lay aside the weights which have retarded our progress during the past year". Hebrews 12:1-2.

Bible Study will be held at 9:45 a. m.

First Baptist

Sunday School at the First Baptist Church will commence at 9:30 a. m. with Jacob Reider as the leader. The lesson, "That You May Believe", will be taken from John I and John 20:30-31.

The morning worship service follows at 10:30 a. m. Mrs. Richard Compton is pianist. The sermon will be delivered by Pastor W. A. Baris.

Training Union, under the leadership of Richard Tucker, will begin at 6:30 p. m. The lesson is entitled "God Speaks Through His Word."

The Evening Worship Service will follow at 7:30 p. m. This will be composed of songs, prayer and a message. Following the Evening Worship Service a science film "Time and Eternity" will be shown.

St. Philip's Episcopal

The Feast of the Circumcision will be observed at St. Philip's Church with celebrations of the Holy Communion at 8 a. m. and 10 a. m. tomorrow. The Rev. William G. Huber will be celebrant and preacher at both services.

The choir, under the direction of Miss Lois Wittich, will sing the Willan setting of the Communion service. Hymns to be sung will include: "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing", "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear", "Angels We Have Heard on High" and "Once in Royal David's City".

The organ prelude will be a "Fantasy on Old Christmas Carols" by Faulkes. At the offertory Miss Wittich will sing Handel's "Come unto Me" from the Messiah. Servers at the 8 a. m. Holy Communion will be Tom Wright and Billy Huber. At 10 a. m. Douglas Thompson, Chip Harrod and Louis Pomerville, will be acolytes with Bill Weldon in charge.

There will be church school at 10 a. m. and the Nursery for children under the age of three.

Friday will be a celebration of the Holy Communion for the Feast of the Epiphany. Next Sunday there will be a musical service by the Girls' Choir, The Festival of Lessons and Carols will be under the direction of Miss Wittich with representatives of church organizations participating. The public will be invited to attend.

Church of Nazarene

The sacrament of Holy Communion will be observed in the first worship service of 1961 at the Church of the Nazarene. In this 10:30 a. m. service the adult choir will sing "Under His Wings". Mrs. Fred Vogt and Mrs. R. Dale Fruehling will bring the special message in song. The pastor's message entitled, "This Cup I Give Thee", will convey the thought that God will entrust and charge of us with the duties he is able to perform next year.

The Sunday school will convene at 9:30 a. m. Superintendent, Dawson Park will be in charge of the adult opening exercises. Mrs. Daryl Thompson will conduct the children's assemblies. The Sunday School offering will go to the building program as is customary the first Sunday of each month.

At 6:45 p. m. the Junior Society and Young People's Society will meet. Mrs. Kenneth Dagon and Mrs. R. Dale Fruehling are the leaders for these groups.

The evening evangelistic service begins at 7:30 p. m. A girls quartet composed of Diana Crabtree, Margaret Cline, Freda Good and Linda Martin will bring the message in song. The pastor will deliver the evening message.

Yesterday is gone. We tear its page from our calendar, for we live in the present.

But often we look back with nostalgia to the many yesterdays which make up the past. In a different mood we plan for the uncertain days ahead, sometimes filling them with happy expectations, sometimes with anxious forebodings.

Where is God in this time pattern of our lives?

Is He in the past alone, incarnate two thousand years ago in the great Teacher of Nazareth? Or does He walk with us through the present, our Companion each day? Does He remove all fear from the future with His promise, the promise of the living Christ, "And lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world?"

Come to Church and learn to know this Christ who is "the same yesterday, today, and forever."

Make Church - Going a Habit

The Chance of the New Year

If your enthusiasm over the arrival of 1961 will be fully expressed in a few perfunctory "Happy New Year" greetings, then you have missed the full concept of the day, and the part it plays in the affairs of life.

Since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary the first day of the new year has been the occasion for casting up accounts, for writing off that which was not satisfactory during the year that has ended, and indulging in plans which were designed to make the coming 12 months happier by comparison.

Many added "prosperous" to their hopes, a happy and prosperous new year being the ultimate goal in life as though it were impossible to be happy without prosperity. Whatever your plans for 1961 may be, do not be misled by the prospects of finding happiness through good fortune. Chances are the new year will be no better nor worse than many that have passed.

When you balance the books at the end of the new year, you will find little satisfaction in many of the things which now seem so desirable. Instead, you may derive your greatest joy from whatever you may have done in behalf of humanity. And it will have been both a happy and prosperous year for you if what you accomplish is not merely personal gain.

This is the opportunity the new year brings.

Some people are always looking into a mirror until they start to pull away from the curb.

Family Happiness Vital to All

Are industrial concerns, particularly the larger ones which have already branched out into employee services, destined for a greater share of the fight against social maladies? They are, according to 24 business and labor leaders who met recently to discuss the impact of human problems on industry and business.

Many recognized social ills receive treatment from various public and private organizations, and probably no age before this was as concerned with the results of togetherness. It is not necessary to live in a city slum to suffer from the effects of many personalities with varying interests, habits and abilities living side by side.

In a recent publication of the Family Service Association of America, a number of leading industrialists and union officials warn that deteriorating family life in America poses more than a community threat.

How Bill Jones feels when he reports for work may determine not only his efficiency for the day, but that of his fellow employees as well. If he quarreled with his wife over cold eggs that morning, chances are his domestic tensions will be with him the remainder of the day. His customary zest for a better - than - average performance gives way to an "I don't care" attitude.

Multiply Bill Jones by the number of others who live and work with serious and imagined social problems and the economic loss because staggering. If every working man or woman began just one day a month out of sorts with the world, the loss would be measured in millions of man hours per week. This is the point which demands greater interest by industry.

It is not merely a matter of charitable aid to community programs to aid people afflicted with alcoholism, addiction, mental illness, tensions, poor citizenship or immature emotional control, but a practical consideration as well. The employee who lacks a healthy outlook is certain to be inefficient and a hazard to others.

Family problems are a tragic product of contemporary society. And for every broken family there are several which have lost the contentment and happiness of a healthful life together. It is from these homes that the greatest threat to society and industry comes. It is becoming clearer to those who suffer the most outside of the family itself, that they must concern themselves more with the human ills of the community they serve.

Electoral College Not Needed

By George Sokolsky

So on December 19, the Electoral College met in each state and elected John F. Kennedy, President of the United States. Before that the aforesaid John Kennedy had appointed his Cabinet although he was not yet President. However, he waited a day or two, perhaps out of courtesy, to resign as United States Senator from Massachusetts. Well, now he is actually President even if you did not know about it before.

The farce was carried through with customary ceremony although it hardly mattered and nobody cared. The Electoral College is an obsolete institution.

I wondered what might have happened in this tight election if some electors chose to switch their votes. It is doubtful whether they could do that in many states. For instance, where I live their names did not even appear on the ballot. I might have been cankerous and demanded my right to vote for electors in accordance with the Constitution but I feared that someone would send for a psychiatrist and having a particular dislike for that breed of cats, I thought that I had better keep quiet and not ask for electors. Besides what difference do they make?

The Electoral College is an obsolete institution which has no reason for existence but which can only be abolished by a Constitutional Amendment. Its purpose was to establish a state-controlled screening body which would safeguard the Presidency from the rabble. Some, these days, say that it also had the purpose of giving minority parties a voice, but this is clearly incorrect because when the Constitution was written there were no political parties and there were really none during the first administration of George Washington.

John Adams who subsequently was described as a Federalist was Washington's Vice President, and Thomas Jefferson who later was called a Democratic Republican was his Secretary of State. No political party is mentioned in the Constitution and no provision for political parties was ever made in it.

The Federal Government does not control elections and such bodies as the Republican and Democratic National Committees are not recognized by any Acts of Congress as functioning bodies.

The Corrupt Practices Acts have nothing to do with political parties but with elected public officials who do what everybody does and get caught.

All this being so, the Electoral College has nothing to do with minority parties nor have we gone in for proportional representation, a system that came close to ruining France.

As a matter of fact, the minority parties appear on ballots under various state laws, just as the majority parties do. It could be legally possible for one state to permit a minority party, let us say the Prohibitionists or the Vegetarians, to appear on the ballot and for another state to reject such parties. This is a state matter.

Television is making many changes in our lives, some beneficial, some very harmful. The National Convention, as a televised institution, will cease to take so much time and the speakers already are no longer wasting hours on rubbish because on television they sound so ridiculous. But the essential fact of the televised convention and the televised campaign is that it makes the election national in character. A candidate can no longer say one thing in Wisconsin and another in Texas because both publics hear what he says in each place. Also candidates have to gear themselves to a television voice, a television stance, a television personality.

It must be remembered that Richard Nixon started as two to one over Kennedy but after the first debate, the campaign was practically over. When I am told that I have yet to hear what tricks the Kennedy people played on Nixon, it leaves me cold because Nixon should have had a Hollywood director who guarded against tricks.

Television is of the theater; it is produced by theatrical personnel. Nixon could not speak to a national audience as well as John Kennedy could.

The national election for the President, by a popular vote, is inevitable and will become sharper as this generation discovers what the Electoral College is — a party-appointed group of contributors and local politicians chosen by each party to cast a vote for an already elected person. It is like an appendix which does no harm until it becomes a nuisance and has to be cut out. Let us cut this one out.

During World War II, the U. S. government considered minting a three-cent piece made of glass in order to relieve the copper shortage.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN MARY PICKFORD was one of the controlling factors in United Artists, she found herself in frequent disagreement with one of the more forceful of her fellow directors. She passed him one morning in her limousine on the United Artists lot, and deciding to let bygones be bygones, hailed him warmly, "Hi, there, Old Warrior!" The gentleman thus addressed mulled over the salutation a moment, then shot back, "YOU'RE the old WORRIER; not me!"

The fellow director had occasion another time to request a little incidental music for a picture he was readying for release. "Now don't take too long with this job," he warned his composer. "For this music I want nothing fancy; just miscellaneous."

A rash bridegroom recently boasted, "I'd like to see MYSELF washing dishes every night!" So his wife hung a mirror over the kitchen sink.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The rest of this winter may be cold but it won't be dull.

The Eisenhower administration is departing in a whisper for, like others before it, it's in that period of marking time until a new administration takes over Jan. 20.

The new one of President-elect John F. Kennedy will start with a bang. It has to. It has that many problems, enough to make the bang last for months.

Just domestic problems would be enough to make Washington boil. Kennedy has more than those.

There's the problem of somehow loosening up the House Rules Committee where Southern Democrats and Republicans have teamed for years to keep liberal legislation from reaching the House for a vote.

Unless this is done, the committee could keep much of Kennedy's program in the graveyard. But if Kennedy backs this, he may antagonize far more Southern Democrats than those on the committee, just when he needs their votes.

In the Senate there's the question of whether to try to gag the Southern Democrats, who might otherwise try to talk civil rights legislation to death, by changing the rules to prevent filibusters.

There'll be a fight over any Kennedy attempt to modernize, clean up or otherwise improve the government's regulatory agencies which affect American living in ways which range from cosmetics and medicine to gas and TV.

It should be a scorcher when Kennedy, as he promised he would try to get through Congress a medical-care-for-the-aged bill tied to Social Security. The American Medical Association figures to lead the fight against him.

Kennedy will almost certainly come up with ideas for spending more money than President Eisenhower is likely to suggest in his last budget.

Arguments over spending will last until Congress goes home next summer. This is just a taste of the brawls ahead on domestic problems alone. Kennedy's overseas problems are endless.

Besides having to deal with Premier Khrushchev personally—either face to face at the summit or through letters and public statements—Kennedy must cope with the Red Chinese who, as they become stronger, will make more trouble.

How is he going to keep Southeast Asia from falling to communism in an area where Red China is the dominant force? That problem will stick with him through the four years of his presidency or eight if he wins a second term, unless communism in the meantime takes over.

The shooting in Laos alone, with help from Soviet Russia and the Red Chinese, could embroil this country in another Korea unless Kennedy finds a way to prevail peacefully or wash his hands of Laos altogether.

Africa is not only one of Kennedy's most special problems, but one of his biggest: How to keep the newly independent nations from giving their allegiance to communism. A whole continent could be lost.

And disarmament? Neither President Truman nor Eisenhower could come to terms with Russia on this one. So now it's staring at Kennedy, crying for solution.

To complicate things for him, France has just had its third atomic test explosion and should soon be able to join the atomic club whose only members now are the United States, Russia and Britain.

The more the members, the worse the problems and the better the chance for war.

It may worry Kennedy to know little Israel is getting into the atomic field, even if its efforts are limited to peaceful reactors. But that's nothing compared with his atomic worries about Red China.

Before Kennedy's present term is up—and probably certainly before he could finish a second one—Red China should be an atomic power. The only comfort he could hope from that would be this:

That by then Red China would be just as troublesome to Russia as it is to the United States. Certainly once it's in possession of that great added power, Red China won't sit still.

Small Pecan Pies Make Big Family Hits

PECAN PIES IN MINIATURE: Flavor may be varied deliciously by adding chocolate, pineapple or candied fruit.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A professional baker had an alluring idea this season. She sent batches of miniature pecan pies all over the country to be sold in specialty food shops.

One taste of these and we were sure home cooks would like to make them because they are a natural for storing in the freezer. Then friends offered a delightful suggestion: why not vary the pecan filling? So in the following recipe filling? So in the following recipe with chocolate, pineapple and candied fruit — and each filling delectable.

The miniature pies may be baked in everyday small muffin pans. "But how to you cut pastry to fit them?" we have heard home cooks ask.

It's a matter of measurement. First invert the muffin pan. With a piece of string measure one of the cups, up one side, across the bottom and down the other side. Now snip off or measure a sure this length of cord; choose a round cookie cutter whose diameter is the same length as the cord. The cutter will make rounds of dough that just fit the cups.

After rolling and cutting the pastry all you do is press the rounds into the cups, patting over the edges in a few places, and taking care not to stretch the dough.

Some southerners insist that pecan pie should be served with a drift of whipped cream. The cream topping won't hurt these miniature

Working Girls
Should Improve
Looks, Dress

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Beauty Editor

Working girls, wide awake about their jobs but fast asleep about their charm potentials, are being awakened gently by Doreen Teeling.

As the request of businessmen Miss Teeling conducts glamor sessions in factories and office. She has been in the business of teaching good grooming in industry since 1951.

The bosses are happy to pay for their course consisting of seven two-hour sessions. They are eager help their feminine employes find a middle road between being overly dressed and poorly groomed, she says.

The tall, willowy blonde from the Middle West has learned from the tycoons of industry the many taboos of office dress. Thus Miss Teeling developed this list.

1. Open-toed shoes are not for business. Always wear closed heel and toe, preferably the opera pump.

2. Large-patterned dresses, sheer blouses low-cut neckline are out of place.

3. Skirts and sweaters should not be worn on the job.

4. A suit is fine if it is not so heavy that the wearer must spend the day in her skirt and blouse.

5. Make-up taboos include overdoing the whole idea. Green eye shadow, for example, is too exotic.

All in all, conservative dress is the key to business success for the office or factory, Miss Teeling tells her working women students of all ages.

pies, but because they are not so devastatingly sweet as the big pies, it's not absolutely necessary.

MINIATURE PECAN PIES
Rich pastry made with 2 cups flour)

2 eggs
2-3 cup dark corn syrup
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2-3 cup finely chopped pecans

Roll out pastry cut into 24 rounds with 4-inch cookie cutter; fit into 24 small (each 2 inches by 1 inch) muffin-pan cups. Beat eggs enough to blend yolks and whites; add corn syrup, sugar, salt and vanilla; beat gently to combine. Stir in pecans. Spoon into pastry cups allowing about 1 tablespoon filling for each. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven 25 to 30 minutes. Remove from pans and cook on rack.

Variations: Make enough pastry to fit 32 of the 2 by 1 inch muffin-pan cups. The basic pecan filling may be varied the following ways.

Chocolate Pecan: Add and stir in 1/3 cup fortified chocolate-flavored syrup to pecan filling.

Pineapple Pecan: Place a scant teaspoon drained crushed pineapple in each pastry-lined cup; add 2 teaspoons pecan filling.

Fruit Pecan: Place a scant teaspoon chopped candied fruit in each pastry-lined cup; add 2 teaspoons pecan filling.

Storage: Any of the miniature pecan pie varieties may be wrapped suitably for freezing and stored in the freezer for 2 weeks to 1 month. Unwrap and heat in a hot (400 degrees) oven until thawed and warm — about 5 minutes. Allow to stand at room temperature a few minutes for pastry to get crispier before serving.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

He's Looking for a Granny

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a married man of 34 who would leave a beautiful, young wife for an old, wrinkled grandmother of 47? Don't tell me that he is looking for "mother love" because his mother is still living. This man is in my family or I wouldn't care what he did. I know it is not unheard of for a man to leave his wife for a YOUNGER woman, but I have never heard of a man preferring an older worn-out one, have you?

FLABBERGASTED
DEAR ABBY: Don't assume that because a man's mother is living he has had his share of "mother love." I don't condone leaving a wife for ANY woman— younger or older—but his reasons are usually younger than spring-time and as old as the hills.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a widow for two years and have a 12-year-old son who is causing me problems. He won't do any work around the house talks back to me and does as he pleases. I never spanked any of my children (I have 5) as their father always took care of that with a razor strap which still hangs in the bathroom. I don't use it because I wouldn't know how hard or even how long to hit him. Also, I doubt if it would do much good through his thick trousers and I can't take his pants off, (can I?). Is he too old to be spanked now?

NEEDING ADVICE
DEAR ABBY: Once your child gets away with talking back and doing as he pleases, it is almost impossible to regain authority. I don't recommend striking a child, with or without trousers. The boy needs the friendship, understanding and discipline of an adult male. Perhaps a relative, teacher or clergyman could guide him.

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever heard of a square wedding cake? When we made the arrangements for my daughter's wedding, we didn't think it was necessary to draw the baker a picture of the wedding cake we wanted. We decided on a price and that was all. When the cake was delivered to find it was square! None of the guests said anything, but it spoiled my daughter's wedding for me. I would like some opinions, please.

DISAPPOINTED
DEAR ABBY: I have never heard of a square wedding cake, but apparently there are such things. I am sure no one noticed it. (Maybe the baker was square?)

Ancient Ship
Believed Found
By Historian

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — An ancient wreck found off Australia may be that of the British ship Pandora which sank in 1791 with some of the Bounty mutineers.

Author-historian Colin Roderick said he is inclined to the Pandora theory by the vessel's size and an inscription on the ship's bell. The inscription reads "The gift of Lady Herbert, daughter of Sir John Knatchbull of Mearcham, Hatch, in Kent, in the Kingdom of England, November 30, 1711."

The wreck was found 200 miles north of Cairns last month. The Pandora, wrecked Aug. 28, 1791, had been sent out to capture mutineers who defied Capt. Bligh of the Bounty in 1789.

The Pandora was returning to England with 14 Bounty mutineers when it sank 12 hours after being holed on a reef.

Records indicate that the Pandora's master, Capt. Edward Edwards, turned the Pandora into a hell ship for the prisoners.

Thirty-four persons, including four mutineers, died in the wreck. Ship's boats took 99 survivors to Timor.

Small-fry cooks: they'll enjoy cutting rounds out of a sheet of sponge cake, using cookie cutters. Then the rounds may be frosted and decorated. The raggle-taggle ends of cake may be used instead of bread in a pudding, but the regular amount of sugar will probably have to be decreased.

Depreciation Is Big Item On Farm Income Tax Reports

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The cost of your machinery, equipment, farm buildings, and other property with a useful life of more than one year is a capital expenditure, and may not be deducted as a nexpense in th year of purchase.

However, you are entitled to deduct, as depreciation, a reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear, and obsolescence of property used in your business or held for the production of income.

The purpose of the depreciation deduction is to let you recover property over the period of its useful life. Where depreciable property is acquired or disposed of during the tax year, depreciation is allowable for that part of the year you own the asset.

A detailed analysis of the depreciation claimed must be submitted with your income tax return. This may be done by filling in the depreciation schedule on Schedule F or by attaching a separate schedule showing substantially the same information called for in schedule F.

Your entries in the schedule may be summarized in such form as will present an accurate statement of each distinctly different class of depreciable assets. However, your own records must be kept in enough detail to verify the correctness of your summarized schedule.

THE deduction for depreciation is allowed only for property used in your trade or business or held for the production of income. This means you cannot take depreciation on property you and your family occupy as a dwelling, its furnishings, your auto used for pleasure purposes only, and other items so used. However, if your auto is used for a portion of your farming operation, you may deduct that portion.

The property must have a limited and determinable life. Land is never depreciable because its useful life is indefinite.

Some depreciable items used in farming are:

1. All farm buildings, including tenant houses (othre than the residence occupied by you).
2. Machinery and equipment.
3. Livestock used for work, dairy, or breeding purposes, if its cost is capitalized instead of being included in the inventory. No depreciation is allowed for raised livestock if the cost of raising it has been deducted.
4. Fences and tile drains.
5. Orchards, groves, and vineyards (upon reaching producing age).
6. Autos and trucks (business portion).
7. Corrals and loading pens.
8. Tanks and vats.
9. Water wells (business portion), included drilling costs.

The first step in figuring depreciation is to determine the useful life, in your hands, of each item. There is no average useful life which is recognized as applicable to all farms. The useful life of an item depends upon the period you plan to use the item, and may be affected by such factors as the amount of use, age when acquired, policy as to repairs and upkeep, climate, and other conditions.

You should determine the useful life of your depreciable property on the basis of your particular operating conditions and experience. If your experience for a particular item of property is in adequate, the general experience of the industry may be used until such time as your own experience forms an adequate basis for determination.

THE BASIS for determining depreciation is the same as the basis you would use to determine your gain if you sold the property.

Usually, the cost of property is its basis. If you materially improve the property, the additional costs are added to the basis. If you use your equipment in the construction of capital improvements, the amount of depreciation allowable for the period it is used in such construction must be added to your cost basis of the improvement, rather than being deducted as an expense.

The law requires that the allowance for depreciation be reasonable. The reasonableness of the depreciation allowance is dependent upon all the facts known at the end of the tax year for which it is to be figured.

You may be allowed an additional 20 per cent deduction in the first year you acquire certain property.

Any reasonable and consistent method of computing depreciation may be used. The three methods most generally used are (1) the straight line method, (2) the declining balance method, and (3) the sum of the years-digits method.

Any taxpayer, except a trust, may elect to deduct on its return an additional first year depreciation allowance on new or used tangible personal property purchased after Dec. 31, 1957, which has a useful life, in his hands, of six years or more when purchased.

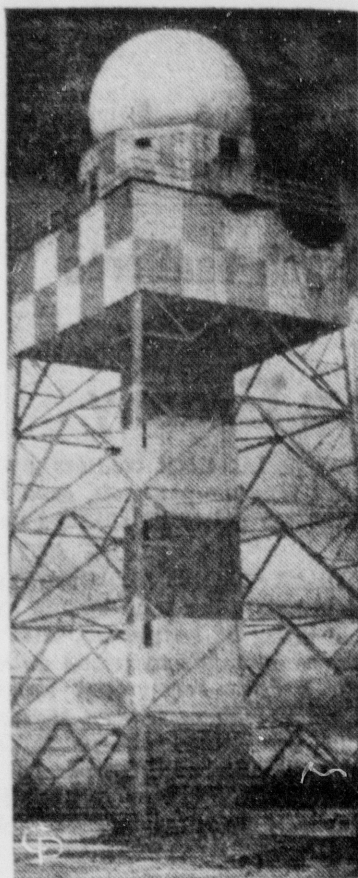

The election must be shown in a statement attached to the tax return, and must include such information as a description of the property; the date, manner of acquisition, and from whom acquired; its estimated useful life; and the total cost of each item for which the election is made, and the portion of the cost of the property selected.

The additional allowance is 20 per cent of the cost (not reduced by salvage) and may be obtained only in the first year a depreciation deduction is allowable on such property. The cost upon which the additional allowance may be based may not exceed $10,000 on a separate return and $20,000 on a joint return. The additional allowance may be taken even though the property was not owned the full year.

AFTER taking this additional allowance you may also take the regular depreciation to which you are entitled for the year, computed after adjusting the basis of the property for the additional allowance. The property must have been purchased.

Property acquired by gift or inheritance does not qualify. Moreover, the additional depreciation is not allowed on property purchased or otherwise acquired from your wife, husband, parent, child, or other ancestor or lineal descendant. Nor is it allowed on property acquired in transactions between certain related partnerships, partners, corporations or stockholders, or certain beneficiaries, fiduciaries or grantors of trusts.

If part of the basis of the property is determined by reference to the basis of other property, such as in a nontaxable exchange, that part can not be considered for the additional allowance. Thus, if you are allowed $500 on an old truck which you trade in on a new $2,000 truck, only $1,500 will qualify.

Ben-Gurion May Resign in Israeli Fuss

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion has hinted he might resign in an effort to force still another vestigation into the mysterious ouster of former Defense Minister Pinhas Lavon, informed sources said.

Lavon was forced out of the government of former Prime Minister Moshe Sharett in 1955 and blamed for a "security mishap." Military censorship has prevented a further description of the incident, but it is believed Lavon was accused of ordering an attack that some diplomats said caused Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser to get arms from the Soviet Union.

The Cabinet approved a report by an investigating committee of ministers Sunday clearing Lavon and finding that a high army officer, whose name has not been disclosed, probably forged a document to pin the blame on the former defense minister.

The investigating committee, appointed by Ben-Gurion last September, represented all parties in the government.

Political sources said Ben-Gurion refused to join in approval of the committee report and hinted that he may resign, at least temporarily. At any rate he customarily takes a midwinter vacation.

The informants said it was understood Ben-Gurion made the threat in an effort to force leaders of his own Social Democratic party, the Mapai, to insist on a full-scale legal investigation into the whole affair. This would necessitate cross-examination of Lavon under oath.

Hog Figures Show Prices Should Stay Up during '61

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Swine producers in the 10 leading corn producing states indicate they are about to increase the number of hogs produced this fall by 3 per cent over the same period last year, this comes about after a period of lower hog production and higher prices for the hogs marketed.

This increase was shown in a survey made by the Crop Reporting Service and published recently as the Quarterly Pig Crop Report. The survey included Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas. These 10 states accounted for approximately 73 per cent of the total number of hogs produced in the United States in 1959.

The number of sows farrowing June through August was 7 per cent less than for the same period last year. This is 1 per cent less than was indicated in the June Pig Crop Report. The pigs from this period will be coming to market during the latter part of the year and the first part of 1961.

During the December through February period all the Corn Belt states with the exception of Nebraska plan to increase the number of sows farrowing. The 10 states expect an increase of 4 per cent. While these increases are not large for the September to February period, they do show a trend. It may mean the pork producer is starting on the upward swing of the hog production cycle.

The number of all hogs and pigs on farms Sept. 1, 1960, in 10 states totaled 45,819,000 head. This is 12 per cent less than the 52,008,000 head a year earlier. Decreases in hogs on farms this September compared to last year range from 8 per cent in Ohio to 25 per cent in South Dakota.

HOGS AND pigs 6 months old and over totaled 8,200,000 head, 17 per cent less than last year. The number under 6 months of age was 11 per cent less than last September. Hogs and pigs 3 to 6 months of age were 13 per cent below those held a year earlier. Pigs under 3 months of age were 7 per cent below last year.

Sows farrowed June - August were also 7 per cent below a year earlier. This indicates the litter size for June - August to be about the same as a year earlier.

The 15,616,000 pigs under 3 months old on farms September 1 accounted for 34 per cent of all hogs. Pigs 3-6 months of age totaled 22,003,000 head, or 48 per cent of all hogs.

What does this information mean in relation to prices for live hogs? Prices during the first few months of 1961 should still stay higher than the corresponding period of 1960.

Production of hogs this coming spring will probably not be large enough to make hogs unprofitable next year.

Zanzibar Said Springboard For Red Move

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The "Rand Daily Mail" has claimed that the storied island of Zanzibar, off the East African coast, had become a launching pad for a Communist assault on the African continent—backed jointly by Moscow, Peking and Prague, with an assist from President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

A dispatch from Zanzibar said, "By an ironic twist of history Zanzibar—the base from which the great missionary drive was launched to take Christianity into East and Central Africa — has been chosen by communism as a stepping stone for its assault on the same regions."

The dispatch said "This small British protectorate has become the target of a skillful and persistent propaganda campaign from Peking, Moscow and Prague substantially aided by Cairo." The paper added pro-Communist speeches can be heard in the streets, and although it denies any Communist affiliations, the Zanzibar Nationalist party may be communism's most effective ally in the region.

Homemaker News

New Years Eve, an eventful night of gay parties to celebrate the bringing in of the new year, is here.

Many of you will be going to parties and have already arranged for a baby sitter. Many of you are accustomed to leaving your children with a sitter; perhaps there are some of you who are not.

There are a few attitudes and requirements of both the sitter and parents to assure the sitter of a happy experience and the parents that the children are in good hands.

A good parent expects of the sitter: 1. A genuine interest in liking for children. Promptness in arriving to take up the baby sitting assignment at the agreed upon time. 2. Thoughtful attention to personal health — such as reporting off duty, in case of a cold, in plenty of time to arrange for a substitute sitter.

3. Dependability, exhibited by meticulously carrying out instructions for care of the baby; being alert to baby's needs at all times; never entertaining friends (while baby sitting) without permission; never opening the door to strangers while the parents are away.

A GOOD parent provides for the sitter: 1. Clear, written directions for the baby's customary schedule of rest, sleep, exercise, and play. Instruction on operation of range, location of light switches, control of heat, operation of door locks, and location of telephone should be given sitter. 2. Telephone numbers to use in emergency to reach the baby's parents, to call the baby's doctor, to call fire or police departments.

3. Sufficient time for the baby and sitter to become acquainted before the parents leave. 4. Reciprocal promptness by returning home at the time promised, and by telephoning if any unexpected delay occurs. 5. Safe transportation home for the sitter, seeing her safely inside the door. 6. A tempting snack or a note suggesting which foods may be eaten.

A good sitter expects from the parent: 1. Clear concise instructions and guidance for taking care of the baby according to the regular routine. 2. Introduction to the young child as a friend. Clear understanding as to the scope of duties involved in the baby sitting assignment. 3. Information as to how to reach parents and other responsible people in event of emergency. 4. Cooperation to maintain agreed upon time schedule. 5. Safe conduct home when baby sitting is over. Normal provisions for the sitter's comfort.

A good sitter gives to the parents: 1. Assurance of wise, tender loving care of the child in the parent's absence. 2. Conscientious attention to all instructions as to the child's care and feeding. 3. Dependable safeguarding of the child's welfare until the parents return.

With all this taken care of, there is no need to worry. Go off to the party and have a good time. Happy New Year to you all!

LAND BANK REDUCES INTEREST RATE

Effective January 1, 1961, the interest charged on all new loans obtained from The Federal Land Bank of Louisville will be 5½ percent per annum.

The benefit of this reduced interest rate will also be extended to all other farmer-members of this association, who during the past year obtained Federal Land Bank Loans at the then current higher rate. When they receive their next installment notice they will find the bank has figured interest on their loans at the new low 5½ percent rate from January 1, 1961.

If you want the loan that leads the way in lower interest rates, get a Federal Land Bank Loan.

Lad Likes Arranging

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Seventeen-year-old Evan Hughes has a simple explanation for his somewhat unusual hobby of flower arranging, a hobby that has earned him three trophies and $2 ribbons. "I was the one who always had to take care of the yard and the flowers," he says, "and I couldn't see any reason for the flowers to be outside when we were inside." Evan says he thought at first his hobby might be considered sissy by other boys at Columbus Academy, but it apparently hasn't hurt his popularity. He's been a class officer several times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Adjutant Gen. Loren G. Windom, state director of civil defense, announced that Ohio has been allocated $5,750 to be used in the construction of 23 shelters. He said the shelters will be built in public or private schools or anywhere in a community selected by local officials.

Bank Clerk Is 'Shot' in Odd Mishap

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph Rubens, 31, a bank clerk, was working at his desk in an 11th floor office. Suddenly he screamed and slumped to the floor.

Fellow employees thought he had suffered a heart attack, and rushed him to a hospital. But there it was discovered he had been wounded by a bullet-like object which pierced an arm and lodged in his chest.

Police converged on the bank building in downtown Manhattan, assuming that someone had shot Rubens.

Someone noticed a small hole in a composition board shield around an air conditioner set into a window near the clerk's desk. That convinced them the projectile had come from outside the 11th floor window. But where?

Across the street was a building under construction.

Officers went there and soon made a surprising discovery. A device was being used there to install aluminum window frames. The device is a power tool for firing stud bolts, about two inches long and the diameter of a pencil, into masonry around the window openings.

Contractors said the power tool, which used rifle cartridges to fire the studs, had been approved by city authorities and that every possible safety precaution had been taken.

However, it was surmised, one of the studs must have ricocheted and gone winging like a bullet into the bank office across the street.

Rubens was reported in fair condition. X-rays showed the missile had barely missed his heart.

Police listed the case as an industrial accident and said no charges would be filed against the building workers.

Thugs Get $5,000 Loot From Tavern Operator

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Tavern owner Robert Ganz, 39, was leaving a branch bank Friday when two gunmen jumped into his car and forced him to drive to a secluded spot. They took $5,000 from him, then forced him out of the car. The automobile was recovered not far from the scene, but the two gunmen were being sought. Ganz said the pair also got his diamond ring which he valued at $1,800, but that they missed another $3,000 in his pocket.

100 Years Ago

this week in the U.S.A.

The year 1860 closes upon a nation that looks back with sober reflection on the radical events that mark its history and looks forward with grave consternation as to the fate of the Union in the coming New Year. The perplexed attitude of the entire country, whether in high officialdom or cracker-barrel debate, seems to be summed up in the report submitted in the Senate on this New Year's Eve by the Powell "committee of thirteen" that they, "have not been able to agree upon any general plan of adjustment."

A daring exploit has given the year a dramatic closing in Charleston Harbor. On the day after Christmas, as dusk began to obscure vision, the gallant major Anderson withdrew his small force from their headquarters post of Fort Moultrie and rowed across the channel to the more commanding Fort Sumter. Under the very noses of the South Carolina patrol ships, little boats plying back and forth so that the entire garrison was established in their new home by 8 p. m.

A small crew had been left behind to spike the guns and destroy the carriages of those cannon which could be used by Moultrie against Sumter. When command was established in the new headquarters, Anderson informed the Adjutant General in Washington that he had made the move because he felt it "necessary to prevent the effusion of blood." Thursday morning (the 27th) found the entire command in Sumter, and at 11:45 the troops were formed on the parade where they heard prayer and witnessed the raising of the U. S. flag over the battlements.

The action naturally caused violent eruption in Charleston city which first learned of the movement by sight of the smoke rising from the evacuated Moultrie. Governor Pickens immediately sent his aide-de-camp to Anderson with a pre-emptory demand that the force be returned to Moultrie. Major Anderson received the officer (Col. Pettingrew) but declined to accede to the request. "I cannot and will not go back," the Major stated. Pickens immediately called up 10 companies of militia to stand by for service. He then ordered the seizure of Castle Pinckney and Fort Moultrie, and ordered the Palmetto flag to be raised over the Federal government building in Charleston.

On the 30th South Carolina forces took possession of Fort Johnson (unoccupied barracks on James Island opposite Fort Sumter and also seized the Federal Arsenal in Charleston. In this last move they confiscated nearly half a million dollars in government property.

Also, on the 27th, three "commissioners" arrived in Washington from South Carolina to "treat" with the President of the United States. Although full particulars have not been made public, it is understood that their communication did not result in satisfaction.

Dissension in the President's cabinet reached its peak this week with the resignation of Secretary of War Floyd. It was claimed by Floyd that he resigned because of the President's action on behalf of Major Anderson in the Sumter affair, but it has been learned that the Secretary had also been asked to leave his office because of his connection with the Russell Indian bond scandal.

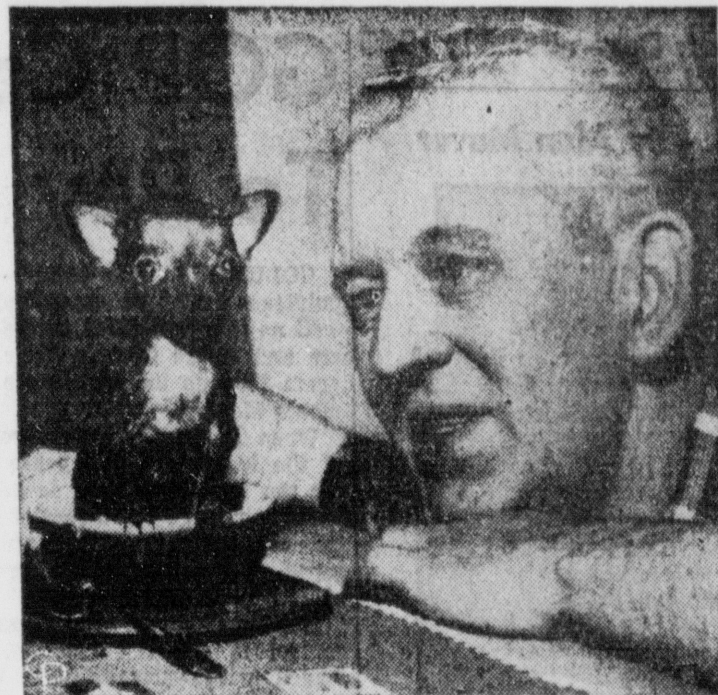

The cabinet, in the meantime, has had near round-the-clock sessions to try to reach a stand on the Sumter situation. Finally on Sunday the President bowed to the pressure of his secretaries and ordered reinforcement sent to Anderson at Sumter. It is reported that the new Secretary of War, Joseph Holt, has ordered officers at Norfolk to put 200 men aboard the Brooklyn and make ready for sea.

Bowling Green Plans

Math Teacher Course

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) —Bowling Green State University again is giving 50 junior high school teachers a chance to keep one big jump ahead of their youthful charges. The 50 teachers will get five weeks of intensive study in mathematics at the university July 20-Aug. 25. Bowling Green offered the Junior High School Math Institute last year, also. Application forms are available from the university.

Pensions Study Urged by DiSalle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If there's some way to continue retirement benefits for teachers and state and other public employees in a more economical way, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says he'd like to find it.

The governor told his Cabinet today that a close look at the various retirement programs — to which the state contributes—is needed.

Turning to other matters, DiSalle said his state of the state message will be given Jan. 10, and his budget message on Jan. 16.

It's Time to Squelch Those Rumors!

This dealer bulletin was received by us recently:

DEALER BULLETIN
NO. 25
DECEMBER 12, 1960

TO ALL INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER FARM EQUIPMENT DEALERS:

When we announced, in 1959, that we would discontinue production at McCormick Works in Chicago, rumors sprang up around the country that our Company was "stepping out of the farm equipment business."

We wrote you then and told you there was no truth to it.

Recently, we announced that we would close Rock Falls Works and move the production to other plants. It seems likely that this will start the rumor mills going again, particularly since some competitors seem interested in spreading such tales.

Here are the facts, and you can tell them to anyone:

1. International Harvester has never considered getting out of the farm equipment business. We are not going to drop out, die out or sell out.
2. On the contrary, all our efforts are devoted to improving our position in the farm equipment business, for you and for us.
3. Every change we have made has been designed to strengthen our future farm equipment business. This includes the closings of McCormick and Rock Falls Works, which complete a long-term planned program to concentrate our farm equipment in our most efficient plants.
4. We have recently built and are now operating the largest farm equipment engineering facility in the world, the Farm Equipment Research and Engineering Center, at Hinsdale, Illinois. This unit employs about 1,500 engineers, scientists, technicians and others in a structure that has 10 acres under one roof. It is a multi-million dollar investment which has only one purpose — better farm machines for the future, next year, next decade, or next century.
5. International Harvester Company is now, has always been, and always expects to be the Number One farm equipment producer in the world. In 1959 our world-wide sales of farm equipment amounted to $635,000,000. The second company in the business, on the most generous basis, was $100,000,000 behind us. The 1960 figures will soon be available and we expect them to show us with a larger lead.

Those are the facts.

This Company and its corporate ancestors have been serving farmers for 129 years. We are starting on our 130th year in the farm equipment business and we believe it will be a good one. International Harvester Company expects to be in the farm equipment business — and be the leader — as far ahead as anyone can see, and certainly longer after you and I are gone.

The New York Titans of the American Football League and Montreal of the Canadian League also drafted Casey, a halfback with the East Shrine team.

But it could be they didn't reckon on what he does when he's not playing football.

New Sales Tax Deduction Plan Slated by U.S.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ohioans figuring their federal income tax for 1960 on the long form will use a different method than in the past in computing a deduction for state sales tax.

Melvin J. Burton, director of the Cleveland Internal Revenue Service district, said a table prepared by the IRS would supplant the previous practice of deducting one per cent of adjusted gross income with a maximum deduction of $100 plus the sales tax on any extraordinarily expensive purchases, such as a car, piano, boat, or the like.

The table allows a $19 deduction on adjusted gross income up to $1,500 and is graduated upward in $500 and $1,000 income steps to an allowable sales tax deduction of $195 for adjusted gross income of $19,000 to $19,999.

"If sales tax claims exceed the amounts on the table, we may ask proof regardless of the purchases leading to the excess," said an IRS spokesman. No records need be produced to support deductions made in accordance with the table he explained.

GOP Counts on Experience To Pay in Next Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republicans count on experience as well as thin majorities in the Senate and House to whip their program through the legislature that meets Monday.

When Democrats gained control of the legislature two years ago, for the first time in a decade, it took their large contingent of first-termers some time to learn the ropes in the complicated process of law-making.

But Republicans, who regained control in the last election, are loaded with veterans who know their way through the legislative maze.

Sen. C. Stanley Mechem of Athens, the new Senate majority leader, has served in the upper house since 1943. He was minority leader last session and served three terms as GOP floor leader before then.

Rep. Roger Cloud of Degraff, Logan County farmer - contractor starting his seventh term in the House, will be speaker for the third time. He was Republican floor leader in the House last session.

Cloud's floor leader will be Robert Taft Jr., Cincinnati, son of the late U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft who occupied the same post in the Ohio House in 1952 and later served as speaker and state senator. Taft will be starting his fourth term as a state representative.

Mechem and Cloud expect to display close teamwork on party matters and expect to continue that liaison through the coming session. They will direct party caucuses at which legislative policy often is hammered out.

Working behind the scenes will be Ray C. Bliss, GOP state chairman and Ohio national committeeman. He is credited with masterminding the strategy that put Ohio in the Republican presidential election column and wrested control of the legislature from Democrats.

Mechem and Cloud expect to confer frequently with Bliss on party aims, as in past sessions. But the legislative leaders stress that Bliss main concern is to see that GOP platform pledges are carried out.

"Bliss has never asked us to do anything that was not in the party platform," Mechem recalled. "I don't foresee any big program this session. It will be more like holding the line."

"There is no inclination to enact any new taxes," Mechem added. "There may be attempts to reduce some."

Several Republican legislators have credited their election victories to resentment over tax increases of about a third of a billion dollars enacted by the Democrat-controlled general assembly two years ago at Gov. Michael V. DiSalles urging.

The governor has promised not

Registration OKd For 4 Counties

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said today that Ashland, Lake, Portage and Wayne counties will be added to the list of counties having voter registration during 1961, as a result of the 1960 census.

Under Ohio law, boards of election are required to establish voter registration in cities with 16,000 or more population.

Those reaching this point in the recent census were Painesville and Willoughby in Lake County, Ashland in Ashland County, Kent in Portage County and Wooster in Wayne County.

At present, there are 28 Ohio counties with county-wide registration and 13 with registration in a portion of county. The law gives boards of elections the discretion as to extending registration beyond that required in cities affected by the census.

to veto any tax cuts voted by Republicans but has warned that state services would be reduced accordingly to compensate for any revenue reductions.

Some GOP holdovers have threatened attacks on other Democratic enactments, mainly the newly created departments of personnel and of industrial and economic development. But Republicans may avoid outright ripper efforts for lack of sufficient party strength, especially in the Senate.

Republicans will outnumber Democrats in the House 84-55. The full 84 votes are just enough to override a gubernatorial veto. But Republicans lack enough votes in the Senate to override. The GOP Senate edge is 20-13 but 23 votes are needed to override a veto in the upper house.

Of the 20 Republican senators, only three will be newcomers to the legislature. Six of the new GOP senators formerly served in the House. Seven others who are holdovers or won re-election also have seen House service.

Of the 85 GOP representatives, 33 are first-termers. But the party has enough veterans to dominate a score of House committees which do most of the tedious legislative work during sessions.

Senate committees will be announced during the first week of the legislative session. They may be fewer than last session to assure GOP domination.

The committees to watch for party policy action are those on state government in both the Senate and House. They usually are known as blue ribbon committees, although members profess dislike of that description.

Republican leaders say they aren't looking for trouble in the session controlled by the party opposite that of the administration. But the leaders indicate they are prepared if trouble comes and count on experience of their members to pull them through.

Rest Home Regulations Are Delayed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Effective date for new regulations covering Ohio nursing and rest homes, scheduled originally for Jan. 1, now will be delayed because of a restraining order.

The 10th District Court of Appeals granted the order against the Public Health Council of Ohio, effective until Jan. 18.

The action was brought by Mildred A. Arfman, operator of a nursing home at 235 High St., Leetonia, Columbiana County. She identified herself as a member of the Ohio State Federation of Licensed Nursing Homes and said in a petition that she brought the suit in behalf of herself and the other 364 members of the federation.

The petition objected to the way in which public hearings were conducted by the health council. She charged that opponents were not allowed to be heard in discussions of the new proposed regulations.

She also contended that in hearings Nov. 19 and Dec. 10 and 11 testimony was taken without oath and without stenographic record as required by law, and that deliberations and conclusions of the new regulations were carried out after the announcement that the hearing was conducted.

Boy Is Blinded By Irked Neighbor

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—A 3-year-old boy was temporarily blinded Thursday when, police said, a man threw a bucket of kerosene, gasoline and oil in his face.

The child, Robert Harrison, was screaming in pain when police arrived but doctors said his sight would not be affected.

George Guynn, 53, was arrested on a felony charge of assault with a caustic chemical.

Sheriff's Sgt. Jack McMills said Guynn was cleaning his truck when the boy, a neighbor, appeared at his mail box.

"He was messing around my mail box," Guynn told McMills. "How would you like if some kid was messing around your mail box."

Yule Tourneys To Close with Battles Tonight

OSU-Bonaventure Tilt To Highlight Vast Array of Court Tests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The wild Christmas tournament week roars to a bone-rattling close tonight with two battles of the behemoths on tap—Ohio State against St. Bonaventure and Duke against North Carolina.

Ohio State and St. Bonaventure clash for the ECAC Holiday Festival title in New York's Madison Square Garden and when it's all over, one perfect record will be shattered. Both are undefeated.

The Buckeyes rank No. 1 in the country in the current Associated Press poll. The Bonnies are No. 3. Ohio State is favorite, but ace Jerry Lucas has been battling the flu all through the tournament and missed practice Friday.

Duke, ranked No. 6 in the country—undefeated—and North Carolina, which just missed the top 10 in this week's voting, gained their final spots in the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C., Friday night.

The Blue Devils, sparked by Art Heyma's 29 points, came from behind to whip Marquette 86-73, for their ninth triumph. North Carolina coasted to an 87-67 victory over Villanova.

A whole fistful of tournaments were decided Friday night. Here's how they went:

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans—West Virginia snapped Memphis State's unbeaten record at eight games with an 86-82 overtime victory.

Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.—Navy outlasted favored Georgia Tech in a rousing finish, 63-60.

Los Angeles Classic—Iowa upset UCLA, 71-65.

All College Tournament at Oklahoma City—Wichita fought off Baylor at the finish and eked out a 76-74 decision.

Richmond Invitational—Richmond whipped William and Mary, 101-87.

Gulf South Classic at Shreveport, La.—South Carolina turned back Mississippi, 85-79.

WCAC Tournament at San Francisco—San Francisco fought to a 51-48 decision over St. Mary's in overtime.

Far West Classic at Portland, Ore.—Oregon State defeated Seattle, 73-65.

Poinsettia Tournament at Greenville, S. C.—Furman came from behind to defeat the Citadel 62-56, in double overtime.

Duke built up a seven-point margin over Marquette early in the second half but with 11:20 remaining, Marquette pulled ahead on a field goal by Len Jefferson. Then sophomore Heyman caught fire and Duke pulled in front for good.

Navy staved off a closing ball-stalling act by Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl final. Dave Tremaine scored the winners' last eight points.

Iowa, trailing by four points at the half, found the range in the second half and finally went ahead at 48-47. Don Nelson was high man with 26 points.

While all the tournament hoopla was going on, Bradley, No. 2 team in the country stayed in its own Peoria, Ill., backyard and defeated Dartmouth, 92-60. The victory was Bradley's 10th of the campaign and 16th straight since last season.

In other major games, Butler stopped Yale, 71-64; Rice edged Clemson, 66-65; De Paul won its seventh straight by polishing off Western Michigan, 81-60, and Los Angeles State halted Bowling Green, 82-78.

Big O Helps Celtics Gain First Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Boston Celtics were back in sole possession of first place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association today chiefly because of the fine shooting of Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson.

The Celtics downed the New York Knickerbockers 120-106 Friday night. Robertson got into the act by pacing the Cincinnati Royals to 136-130 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors. The two results gave the Celtics a game lead over the Warriors.

In other games, the St. Louis Hawks, Western Division pacesetters, beat the Los Angeles Lakers 107-99 in the second game of a doubleheader which saw Detroit turn back Syracuse 121-112 in the opener. The twin bill was played at St. Louis.

Robertson, held to nine points in the first half, broke loose for 29 in the final two quarters to help offset a 49-point performance by Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain.

Xavier Quarterback Signs with Vikings

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ron Costello, quarterback for Xavier of Ohio for the past two years, has signed a contract with the Minneapolis Vikings of the National Football League.

Costello's wife Nancy reported the signing Friday. Costello, not drafted in the league selections last Tuesday, was signed as a free agent.

Costello, a capable passer, was picked for the 1960 All-Catholic squad chosen by coaches of 22 American Catholic Schools.

Logan Elm Takes Walnut Tourney

Logan Elm sewed up the Walnut Holiday basketball tournament championship last night with a 62-44 decision over Jackson Twp.

Host Walnut gained consolation honors by handing Monroe a 64-53 loss in the first game of the evening.

The Braves of Logan Elm, winning their seventh game in eight starts, rolled to a fast lead behind the potent scoring of Chuck Spangler who finished the test with 24 points.

Denny Valentine was another cog with 14 points as Logan Elm used a total of 12 players in racking the tourney crown.

LARRY Eitel and Gary Thompson were the scoring sparkplugs for Jackson as each connected on six buckets and three foul shots for 15 points. Bob Eitel was the third man in double figures with 11.

Logan Elm moved ahead, 14-6, at the first quarter finish and held a 29-16 lead at intermission. Jackson cut the lead to 41-31 at the end of the third period only to see the Braves open up in the final canto for an 18-point spread.

Walnut, playing without the services of ace scorer Tom Harber, pushed ahead early and stayed in front, although Monroe remained close behind throughout.

Harber did not dress for the game due to a pulled ligament in his foot. He played only one quarter in Walnut's loss to Logan Elm Thursday.

Larry Leist and Bill Hoover took over the scoring chores in Harber's absence. Leist racked the nets for 19 points and Hoover dropped in 17. Duane Sheets furnished a

OSU Aide Talked As Akron Coach

Joe McMullen, Akron head coach for six years, last week was named an assistant to Financial Vice President Les Hardy.

Larson, who played football and basketball at South High School here, started coaching in 1949 at Twinsburg High. He coached at South High and Marion Harding before being named backfield coach at Ohio State in 1959.

Woody Stephens, Bowes Bond, Harry Trotsek and Syl Veitch are American trainers who have saddled winners of the Laurel International horse race.

Deers Edged In Contest At Huntington

The Deers of Williamsport dropped a close 50-48 contest to Chillicothe Catholic Central in the consolation round of play last night in the Huntington Holiday cage tournament.

Paint Valley won the tourney by stopping host Huntington in a 55-50 battle.

A Williamsport bid in the final quarter almost produced a victory. The Deers tallied 19 points in the last frame compared to nine by Central Catholic, but the bid was not enough to overcome a 41-34 lead enjoyed by the winners in the third quarter.

Williamsport relied on its outside attack with Brooks McCoy and Donnie Steinhauer doing most of the damage. McCoy found the long range for 16 points and Steinhauer came through with 10. Marty Noble added nine.

CATHOLIC Central was paced by Purper with 16 points and C. Fadden with 12.

The first quarter ended in a 12-12 deadlock, but Catholic Central managed to pull ahead at 26-22 by intermission. Williamsport hit eight of 11 at the foul line and the winners collected eight of 16.

Bowl Tilt Slated To Use Platoons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Good old-fashioned platoon football returns to the college scene today—perhaps for the last time.

Coaches of the all-star Blue-Gray game, one of seven that make up today's opening course of the annual year-end football banquet, agreed to an unlimited substitution variation of the regular college rules.

It isn't likely that coaches Paul Dietzel of the South or Jack Mollenkopf of the North will substitute 11 men at a time, as was done generally before platoons were legislated out of existence in 1953. The idea is to give them the opportunity to make the best use of their talented but limited squads.

Still the 20,000 or so fans who are expected for the all-star tussle at Montgomery, Ala., and the TV viewers may have the last chance, to pass judgment on the unlimited vs. limited substitution question.

A proposal to be voted on at the National Collegiate Athletic Association convention early in January would require that all postseason games receiving NCAA approval be played under NCAA rules. That would eliminate such variations by agreement.

In addition to the Blue-Gray game, today's postseason program includes the Gator Bowl meeting at Jacksonville, Fla., between Baylor and Florida, the Shrine East-West game at San Francisco; the all-star Copper Bowl at Tempe, Ariz.; the Sun Bowl (New Mexico State vs. Utah State) at El Paso, Texas; the Great Southwest Bowl (Texas A&M vs. Arkansas Tech) at Grand Prairie, Texas; and the Prairie View Bowl (Arkansas A&M vs. Prairie View) at Houston.

About 187,000 spectators are expected to watch the seven games. Three will be televised nationally. The Blue-Gray and East-West games form a doubleheader on the air waves via NBC-TV. The Gator Bowl is on CBS-TV.

The main course of the banquet will be served Monday—national champion Minnesota vs. Washington in the Rose Bowl, Missouri vs. Navy in the Orange Bowl, Rice vs. Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl and Duke vs. Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl.

Ice-Fishing Conditions Getting Good

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ice conditions are good over the northern two-thirds of the state—a signal for an expected trek of Ohio ice-fishermen to ponds and lakes during the long holiday weekend just ahead.

The Ohio Division of Wildlife reports that ice is safe for fishing as far south as Hargus Lake in Pickaway County, and Rocky Fork Lake in Highland County.

Shanty towns of the ice-fishing fraternity are springing up on western Lake Erie and Sandusky Bay. Catches of small perch and some smelt are reported from the west side of South Bass Island. On the ice off Catawba State Park, Ottawa County, the same situation prevails—plenty of small perch and a few smelt. Perch are being taken in Sandusky Bay.

An ice cover of from six to eight inches will be found this weekend on all quite waters in northwestern Ohio, the division said. Good catches of bluegills are being taken at the ponds at the Killdeer Plains Wildlife Area in Wyandot County. Grand Lake St. Marys is attracting many anglers.

Top prospects for central Ohio fishermen are Buckeye Lake, Indian Lake, Lake Loraine, Clark Lake and Rocky Fork. Bluegills are the main species being taken at the present time, although a few bass are showing up.

Chargers Hoping For Upset Win

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Los Angeles Chargers, losers in Houston's first American Football League game, worked out today with hopes of closing the season with an upset victory.

The Chargers and the Houston Oilers meet in the AFL's first championship game Sunday before an expected 25,000 persons and a national television audience—ABC, 2:30 p. m., CST. Houston is a 6 1/2 point favorite.

The Chargers lost to Houston, 38-28, in the Oilers' first league home game in September, and won, 24-21, on a muddy field in Los Angeles later.

The Chargers, with 10-4 record, won the league's Western Division. Houston, also 10-4, won the Eastern Division.

Unemployment Is Big Problem Facing Kennedy

Economic Recovery By Midyear Sighted By Most Experts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy apparently has inherited a recession, though that may be a harsh word for a decline as mild and brief as most economists now foresee.

An immediate problem confronting the new administration will be one that Kennedy foretold in the election campaign—serious unemployment.

However, a majority of government and industry experts interviewed for this survey predicted privately that recovery will be sighted by midyear. Over the whole of 1961 national output and income should top 1960's all-time high.

In severity the business dip is not expected to exceed one or two per cent. That is, total production will not fall more than $5 billion to $10 billion below the peak rate of $505 billion annually reached last spring.

In duration, it may be as brief as the last recession, one of the shortest on record. The 1957 downturn began in September the upturn started eight months later, in April, 1958.

But the country never regained full employment after that recession, and joblessness is expected to be the most stubborn problem of this one. Unemployment probably will exceed five million by February.

By a year from now, the economists believe, total output — the gross national product, or value of all goods and services produced — may exceed the 1960 peak by $10 billion to $15 billion in annual rate. This means it could go as high as $250 billion. A few are making even higher predictions for the final quarter of the year, despite the unemployment problem.

In November joblessness rose to a postwar record. Labor Department experts acknowledged that even if business activity does not weaken but merely holds even, the total probably will move past the five million mark at just about the time Kennedy takes his oath of office.

The disappointing employment figures for October—normally the best month of the year for jobs—were withheld until after the election, although the administration had released them in advance in previous election years.

Similarly, Kennedy and his advisers pulled their punches on the state of the economy, not wanting to be charged with "talking the country into a recession" or to be labeled "prophets of gloom and doom" as Democrats were in the congressional elections of 1954 and 1958. Kennedy told many crowds, nevertheless, that the big job of his first six months would be that of coping with unemployment.

Part of the expectation of a recovery in the second half of 1961 is based on a general belief that Kennedy will move rapidly to stimulate business unless recovery signs begin to be visible very soon.

Deficit spending by the government is expected. This will channel new federal dollars into the economy to supplement the stepped-up spending initiated by the Eisenhower administration in recent months. Both Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon committed themselves to run deficits, if necessary, whenever anti-recession measures were needed.

If the experts are fooled and the slump becomes truly serious, Kennedy is expected to call on Congress for a temporary income tax reduction. That course was suggested two years ago but was turned down by the administration.

Many believe the effects of the 116-day steel strike in late 1959 are still being felt indirectly. When work was resumed under a federal injunction, there was no assurance that the steel workers would not walk out again early in 1960. Industry indulged in hand-over-fist ordering of steel and other materials to build up stocks ahead of a possible shortage and a price increase.

Suddenly inventories were over-sized, and the huge demand dropped off. In the second quarter of 1960 national output reached its all-time peak. But in the third quarter, instead of continuing upward as expected, it dropped 1½ billions to a $503.5 billion annual rate.

Other factors helped to discourage business expansion. The sudden shift in federal financing, from a $13-billion cash deficit in fiscal 1959 to an $8-billion cash surplus in the first half of calendar 1960, pulled a big prop out from under business expansion.

The Federal Reserve Board took early steps to ease credit and enlarge the money supply. But the board's efforts were nullified in part by the large deficit in international payments, which siphoned capital from the country, and interest rates did not drop as sharply as is normal when loan funds are ample.

U.S. Asks Curb On Makers Of Furniture

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The government says it wants a U.S. District Court in Buffalo to enjoin nine manufacturers of metal office furniture from continuing alleged violations of federal anti-trust laws.

The court was asked this week to grant a permanent injunction preventing the companies from suppressing competition by allocating customers, fixing prices, submitting rigged bids to governmental purchasers, exchanging information about bids and prices, maintaining special customer zones, and charging extra for special colors in furniture.

Eight of the firms were indicted by a federal grand jury here Dec. 7 on charges of conspiracy to fix prices and eliminate competition in the metal office furniture industry.

Named as defendants in the complaints were Sperry - Rand Corp., New York City; Art Metal Inc., Jamestown; Yawman & Ferbe Manufacturing Co., Rochester; General Fireproofing Co., Youngstown, Ohio; Globe - Wernicke Co., Norwood, Ohio; Shaw-Walker Co., Muskegon, Mich.; Steelcase Inc., Grand Rapids, Mich.; and All - Steel Equipment Inc., Aurora, Ill.

Diebold, Inc., of Canton, Ohio, which was not named in the criminal charges, also was listed as a defendant in one of the civil complaints. Diebold was accused of fixing prices for fire-resisting filing cabinets.

The government also asked the court to direct the companies to replace present price schedules with new schedules within 60 days of a final judgment in the case.

Ohioan's Hearing Set for Monday

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Byron Baldwin Ashbrook, 38, is scheduled to be arraigned in Justice Court Monday on a murder charge stemming from the Christmas Eve slaying of his wife, Betty, 36. Both came here last summer from Newark, Ohio, to get married.

Police said Ashbrook told them he strangled his wife with his hands because he thought she was running around with men. Officers found her body in the Ashbrook apartment.

Ashbrook, an unemployed cook, was formally charged Thursday but his arraignment was postponed until Monday to allow him time to obtain a lawyer. The court was informed that his mother, who lives in Newark, had obtained the services of attorney Irving Diamond of New Orleans, La.

St. Louis Cardinal second baseman Manuel Javier wore uniform No. 2 last spring while training with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Minnie Minoso of the Chicago White Sox paced the American League in hits last season with 184.
